

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

An area of low pressure will move slowly northeast from southwest England through Sunday. Some heavy and locally thundery downpours are expected: these more likely through the afternoon and evening although precise locations are uncertain. There is a high risk of 15 mm falling in one hour locally, with a few locations receiving over 40 mm in a 3 hour period.

Please refer to this website for further updates.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 10:00 on Sun, 05th Aug 2012 until 22:00 on Sun, 05th Aug 2012

Heavy showers with a risk of thunder are again expected to develop through Sunday. These may be prolonged in places, particularly in parts of southwest England and south Wales.

The public should be aware of the risk of localised surface water flooding and possible disruption to transport.
